

Course Aim

The purpose of the course is to develop the knowledge, skills and thinking that humanitarian workers and government officials need to effectively deliver protection and aid to internally displaced people (IDPs) and/ or refugees living in communal settlements.

Who is the course for?

This course is designed particularly for humanitarian aid workers working or hoping to work in a camp setting. It is also a very good introduction for senior managers and decision makers to be aware of what is involved.

Course Objectives

- To gain knowledge on camp organisation, management, and systems
- To learn how to secure and uphold the protection of the rights of refugees and internally displaced persons (IDPs) under international law
- Recognise your own knowledge and skills and identify further development needs

Completing the course

By completing this course, participants will be able to promote and share the relevant technical skills and knowledge and will be equipped with adequate analytical skills through developing key understanding of disaster management concepts and procedures, principles and values.

Learning Methodology

It will encourage participants to think creatively and will utilise contemporary adult learning methodologies including: interactive lectures, group work, classroom exercises, activities, work sheet, mapping, discussion, presentations, case studies, video show, games and brain-storming.

Course Duration

The duration of the course is 3- 5 days.
